

Pebbles of Water

I believe my Light Every day
Comes from the angels spreading their glory
As they tumble into my morning
And the sun reflecting from upon their wings
That marvelous moment when dark becomes dawn
Their light dances off the mist
And takes the shape of newborn butterflies
Amazing, sparkling, iridescent colors
Pebbles of water
Appear as feathers for the sky
Just breathing in can cause flight
And breathing out....I am Light
Awake to the warmth of a blanket of love
That is poured every morning
To us
From above
Only a child can truly grow
So grow to become Truly
A child.